

An Accident By Aiden Chan (6C)

Mary and I were waiting for a bus yesterday after school. We were all exhausted after several quizzes at school this week. While we were waiting, we felt bored. Therefore, we started wondering about how we can kill time. Mary came up with an idea that we could play some games.

The cars kept crossing the road constantly. We were playing joyfully with each other. On the other hand, the man standing beside us was very impatient. He seemed really in a hurry and started checking his watch.

After a while, we saw a young girl who was wearing an ear phone crossed by. She was watching her phone and smiling. She was not paying attention to the situation and even ignored the traffic light. It was red. Suddenly, a car drove towards her. We kept waving to her but she could not see us. The car swerved and hurt her leg.

At last, the police came and her leg was bleeding. We learned a lesson that we must strengthen our awareness of the environment. Otherwise, will have a sad ending just like the girl.
