

Helping People Makes Us Happy

(6B Kevin Yeung)

Yesterday, I was in the shopping centre because I was waiting for my friend and we went shopping together. I was very excited. Suddenly, I saw a little girl crying loudly. I said, "What can I help you with?" She said, "Where's my mum?"

Soon, I comforted her. I said, "Don't worry. I will help you to find your mum." After a while, I calmed her down and she followed me to find her mum. She was very worried because she still couldn't see her mum.

After a while, we were disappointed since we could not see the little girl's mum. So we went to the information counter. I said, "Have you seen the little girl's mum?" she said, "Sorry, I haven't seen the little girl's mum, but I can try to find her mum."

Finally, the staff had an idea. She made an announcement to find her mum. I was happy because I could help others.
